The Teacup Novellas - The Collection

Synopsis

Lucy Alexander has a hopeless case of writer's block. But all that changes when her handsome UPS guy delivers a box of vintage teacups from the estate of her namesake and beloved Aunt Lucille. Happy memories of tea parties they shared when Lucy was young flood her mind. And with them, the forgotten stories her aunt loved to tell over tea and Scottish shortbread. Colorful tales of fascinating characters woven together with the undeniable power of love. Some were true, most weren't, but it was her aunt's extraordinary gift of storytelling that first ignited Lucy's passion to write. Though still grieving the recent loss of her aunt, Lucy unwraps the fragile cups and saucers, and with them, a flood of memories and story ideas.

The Teacup Novellas - The Collection includes all five stand-alone stories plus the on-going saga of Lucy's own budding romance with that UPS guy who keeps knocking at the door of her heart.

The Collection includes:

- Book One - Tea with Emma
- Book Two - Strike the Match
- Book Three - Home to Walnut Ridge

Customer Reviews

This is a delightful collection of the series originally published separately. Each one can be read as a stand-alone, but they're better read in sequence. Here is what I thought about them:

Tea with Emma - Lucy gets a package from her aunt's estate. She's inherited her aunt's gorgeous array of delicate teacups and saucers. She likes to get packages, because that brings the friendly, good-looking UPS guy. Lucy is a writer, who's been stuck without a story to tell with a deadline looming. The cups give her inspiration, and she begins to write Maddie's story. Maddie comes back to Austin, Texas, from England with her best friend Lanie. Maddie is determined to open an English tearoom and help those around her find love. Opening the tearoom goes well, but her matchmaking abilities just leaves chaos. She realizes only God can straighten out the mess she's made. Might He also send her a love-interest?

Strike the Match - Going to a prestigious university in New York to study journalism cost much more than Keri McMillan thought, so, after two years, she comes back home to work for her dad's construction company in Oregon. When his latest project burns to the ground, she discovers he's near bankruptcy. Grant Dawson is a Pulitzer Prize winning journalist, so Keri can't understand why he chose to leave Los Angeles to run the little Waterford Weekly. After the fire, he hires her as a reporter, and gives her the assignment of finding the arsonist.

I didn't like this novella quite as much as I did the first one in this series, TEA WITH EMMA. Keri was too self-centered, prickly, mouthy, and hard. I knew who was setting the fires from the first time he came into the picture, but this only made me feel good, and didn't detract from the story.
